Chloe Carpenter KC has a broad commercial and regulatory / disciplinary practice and has been described "forensic in her approach and quick at getting back to you" (Chambers & Partners).

Her commercial practice includes commercial litigation, banking, financial services, professional negligence, and international arbitration.

Chloe has extensive experience in all aspects of professional discipline / regulation. She regularly advises regulated persons or entities on matters of regulatory compliance or on investigations, and acts for respondents who are subject to regulatory proceedings, e.g. SRA v Baker McKenzie and SRA v Mishcon de Reya.

She is accredited as a mediator and accepts appointments as an arbitrator.

Experience in International Arbitration

Chloe accepts appointments to act as an arbitrator. Given her experience in both commercial work and regulatory / disciplinary work, she is particularly well placed to act as arbitrator in cases which raise both commercial and regulatory issues. Recent experience includes:

- Acting in an arbitration regarding a dispute arising under Cayman Islands law.
- Acting in an insurance dispute arising out of mortgage endowment mis-selling.
- Acting (with David Railton KC and Marcus Smith QC) for the insured in a three-week arbitration concerning an insurance dispute with Lloyd's insurers regarding viatical policies.
- Regularly advising on issues of regulatory compliance.

Experience in regulatory, privilege, confidentiality and conflicts of interest work

- Acting for various law firms and individual solicitors in respect of SRA investigations.
- Acting for insolvency practitioners in respect of investigations by the Insolvency Practitioners Association.
- Chloe regularly advises clients, including law firms, on questions of privilege. She is a specialist in professional discipline and regulatory work and, in that context, regularly advises on issues of conflicts of interest and confidentiality.
- She is also a co-author of The Law of Privilege, OUP, third edition (edited by Bankim Thanki KC) and the editor of the legal professional privilege sections of Cordery on Legal Services (LexisNexis, 2023).
- SRA v Mishcon de Reya [2021]: Acting for the firm in respect of allegations brought by the SRA that the firm had acted as a banking facility.
- SRA v Senior, Baker McKenzie & Others [2020]: Acting for the firm in respect of allegations brought by the SRA in relation to an internal investigation conducted by the firm.
