MARINN CARLSON is an independent arbitrator, building on 25 years' experience in investor-state and international commercial arbitrations. Prior to launching her arbitrator practice, she was co-leader of Sidley Austin LLP's Global Arbitration, Trade and Advocacy practice, where she was a partner specializing in investment treaty arbitration for 18 years and represented claimant investors and respondent states in roughly equal measure.

PROFESSIONAL EXPERIENCE

Sidley Austin LLP

Co-leader, Global Arbitration, Trade and Advocacy Practice (2018-2023)
Partner (2005-2023) and Associate (2002-2004)

In addition to serving as arbitrator in international investment disputes, acted as counsel in investor-state arbitrations, representing both cross-border investors as well as respondent governments in ICSID and UNCITRAL arbitrations under investment treaties (BITs) and free trade agreements. Cases spanned economic sectors ranging from financial services to energy to infrastructure development, and touched all regions, including Latin America, Western and Eastern Europe, Asia, MENA, and Africa. Represented corporate and state-owned entities in institutional and ad hoc international commercial arbitrations. Counseled clients in U.S. litigation with international ramifications before the United States Supreme Court and various courts of appeal.

George Washington University Law School American University Washington College of Law

Adjunct Professor teaching classes on investment treaty arbitration, international investment law and policy, and international economic disputes since 2014 (AU) and 2019 (GWU).
